

Design services

The design services offered are flexible to suit your needs. Listed below are the most common services that Ian Price Design provide.

Initial consultation

The initial consultation is an onsite meeting and will cost £100 (payable in advance) for this meeting and provided that the site is a reasonable distance from the greater Belfast area, there will be no charge for travel. Should the meeting site be further away, a cost will be agreed in advance. At this meeting, which usually lasts between one and two hours, Ian will walk around your garden with you and then move indoors so that he can sketch out some ideas and general concepts based around your wish list. The level of design service that you need as well as estimated costs for construction and timescales involved will be discussed along with the cost of the design service. Please contact us for further information should your garden be further afield.

Site survey

This is carried out by Ian in most instances on a dry day at your convenience. It is not necessary for you to be there while the survey is carried out. Should the garden is more complex in terms of size or levels, then it may be necessary to have a professional topographical survey; the fees for which will be paid directly by you to the survey company. Photographs and notes of your site will be taken by Ian Price Design in either case. If a soil analysis is required, the same will apply and the costs for this will also be paid directly to the independent company by yourselves.

Master plan and detail presentation drawings

This drawing will be to scale and will include notes and some 3D images of the proposed design. This drawing will usually be had drawn in black and white and the size and scale of it will depend on the size of your site. Another meeting will be made to sit down and present the design and it gives us a chance to explain in detail all the elements involved including material selection. It is preferable that this meeting will be at your house. The production of these drawings can take a couple of weeks to prepare. Examples of these drawings are available to be viewed in the projects section of the website. The drawing is based on the site survey and the brief established at the initial consultation and minor amendments are included within the design fee.
